“ I only knew Brian for a couple of years while I was in Charlie Battery, but as an Ops Chief I can tell you he was one of the most trusted and reliable Section Chiefs that I have seen in my 23 years in the Marine Corps. He will be missed greatly as it seems he not only made an impact on the Marine Corps but also his civilian life afterwards. My deepest condolences to Beverly and the entire Sites family. Semper Fi my Brother!

Ssgt Sites was what you looked up in the dictionary and there was a picture of him dirty with old camo paint of his face, dirty and with a shit eating grin you couldn't help but shake your head smile and just Aye Staff Sergeant. When I was boot till I got out Staff Sergeant was always squared away and Marines under him were always the best. Personally the thing I remember most about Staff Sergeant was he didn't have to be cool with any of us outside his platoon but he always was. Whether it was dropping knowledge or telling a story (cautionary or for the laughs) I always felt welcome at his gun. My condolences to his family I really wish I had the words...I'm just sorry.

Brian Sites and I were best friends in high school. We were always together: working, hunting, fishing, football, and track. After graduation, we both enlisted in the Marines. Brian was probably the toughest man I ever knew. He was as strong as a bull but always kind. My heart and prayers go out to Brian's family. He will be missed.
