“ I have many fond memories of Doris when I lived in New Martinsville and worked with her at the New Martinsville ambulance service. I always enjoyed the times when she would invited me to her home for a meal and visits. I also enjoyed the recipes she shared with me that I use to this day. She was a great lady. Jerry Yoho

“ I will always remember Doris's dry sense of humor, and her favorite sayings, "whatever, and who cares" She would not attend a lot of group activities for the longest time, then when she found out that Steve and Sandy Hunt were coming with their group to sing, she agreed to "just try it" Well everyone came and talked to her after they got done performing, and she said she really enjoyed herself. I said, see, i told ya...of course she said"whatever" haha. We will miss her.

“ I will always remember her always making candy and her smile. She could light up the room. She laughed often and always welcomed us with hugs. She was very special and will be missed.

“ My Great Aunt was such a sweet woman, my fondest memories were, when my parents would bring us kids to visit our family, we would always make a special trip into town to visit, I remember all the figurines around her house, that she made, and the old wooden spinning wheel next to her couch, she would always have candy for us, and would sit telling us stories about dad growing up, she was so patient with us kids, and always welcomed us with hugs and kisses.

*During the summers we spent with our grandparents, my grandmother would always stop after our yard sale adventures, and she would welcome us with a cool drink and sandwiches, I can hear her voice saying , " Now Aimee, tell me about what you found today... " as we sat on the couch, she would listen intently to what i had found that day, from when I was younger, and all excited about a toy or book, to later when I was older finding a special piece of Fenton glassware, that she would help me clean up, she always encouraged my artistic side, and told me how proud of me she was of me and how I was turning into a beautiful woman.
I will miss her dearly.*
