“ I was just a child at Ash Avenue Church of God when Eva nd her sister Sylvia would sit and chat with me. I especially remember Eva's pretty smile as she sat with her arms stretched out across the back of the pew. We were a poor family but she always made me feel welcome and special. I always thought she was so pretty ~ and I see from her picture and her obituary that she retained that beauty, both outward and inward.

What a lovely note about my Aunt Eva. That is exactly the type of thing she would do.
