“ Aunt Sandy, Tracie, Fred, Carol, David and families,

What a great man he was. He excepted all who came into his life without judgement. A man of few words, but when he did speak it was with great advice. May his love and memories continue with all who knew him. He is now walking in the greener pastures.

“ That taciturn exterior and occasional, um, stubbornness hid a man of great warmth, generosity and kindness. Uncle Fred and I did not cross paths often enough, but enough at least that I hold him in the greatest respect.

Aunt Sandy, that may have been the best decision you ever made. Please accept my sorrow for your loss. Your children, grandchildren and now great-grandchildren are among the finest legacies you can have.

Love and hugs to all,

“ Aunt Sandy, Tracie, Fred, Carol, and David,
My deepest condolences on Uncle Fred's passing, his humor, dedication, and loyalty are what I will remember about him. His willingness to be of service to his family and community are traits all of you share. He was a good teacher. The farm was always the logical place to host family events and your hospitality was always appreciated.

*I have so many memories of Uncle Fred, but one of my favorites is:
I was proudly telling him how my green peppers were flourishing and he replies, 'yeah, peppers grow pretty well in bad soil.' I laughed then and every time I remember the story!*

Thanks to cousin Collen for taking such good care of him, we're forever grateful.

Rest in peace, until we meet again, we love you and we'll miss you.

Lots of Love, Rita
