“ As I was looking through for things to be read at Pap’s funeral, I came across this poem called Family Tree by Author Unknown. This poem made me think of Pap and it sounded like something he would have told all of us he would want us to do! He would want us to laugh instead of cry, remember all the good times and wonderful times we spent together, to carry on the traditions that he made for the family, and to carry on his memory! Pap I cry tears of happiness because you are no longer suffering and going through pain but I also cry tears of sadness because I never wanted to lose you! We love you Pap always and forever and will miss you so very much!
