“ It was indeed a pleasure getting to know Kevin over the past 17 years or so. Although it was the pursuit of business opportunities that was the avenue that connected us, I always relished catching up with him about how his family was doing, and sharing about the joys of parenting and just life in general. It wasn't too difficult to recognize that his family was at the center of his heart. Kevin was a really good person. I am glad that I was able to get to know him both professionally and personally. I will miss him greatly. My sincerest condolences go out to Marleah, his children and extended family. May The Lord provide you with comfort at this time, and give you peace in knowing that Kevin is now with Him. God bless.
