“ I remember as a young boy when I was 11 or 12ish, Grandma Ryan knew that I really loved to read. She was always asking me what I was reading or had read. She really nurtured and encouraged my love of reading. She played a big part in keeping me on a pathway of being a lifelong reader and learner. She gave me the book War and Remembrance by Herman Wouk. At the time probably the largest and most complex text I had read as a 12 year old. I loved that book and I loved her for always taking the time to notice a shy, gawky tweener who thought that no one ever noticed me. I will miss you.
