“ To my sister Melinie, Wish I could have lived closer and stayed in touch better as we both raised our families. I took for granted that you'd be there to talk to every now and then, and now you're gone. I remember as kids Mom telling you that you shouldn't pick on me because you wouldn't always be bigger than me, and the expression on your face when that day finally came. I remember skipping school...but I don't know why we did that. I remember that trailer park. I remember living on the Chesapeake bay with Gram and Grandad after Mom and Dad split up. I remember going to Catholic school together and those awful uniforms, but how it was still good for us to learn about the Lord. I remember when we caught that sea turtle while fishing. I remember your pretty blond hair. I still can't believe you're gone, and I am not sure I want to right now. I love you, rest in peace.
