“ Andy and girls,
I sat by your mom and nanny in church very recently, I think it was the last time we were here on a Sunday. Little Emily Curtis was there too and she kept patting your mom's leg and smiling up at her. She seemed very charmed by her and kept smiling and patting her back on her little chubby hand. Your mom was wearing a black skirt with different patterns in it. Emily started eating some star-shaped puffs and suddenly started poking at the skirt. I noticed that she had found a pattern that was shaped just like her puffs. Paula and I were impressed with that and had a good chuckle together.

The same service Seth talked about Emil close to the end and I started crying. I heard your mom crying too. After church she sent me this message I want to share with you. It's extra special to me now:

“I wanted so much to reach out to you!! I know your pain.I sometime wonder if my sickness is part of my losing John and Robert. God knows!! I love you Faith”

Your family is very special to me. My heart goes out to you for all your recent losses and prayers continue for God's comfort for you all.

“ Andy and Dave,

Thoughts and prayers are with you at this time. I have many beautiful memories of your mom (and dad). They poured into us kids/ whether it was an evening at your house, being invited to Sunday dinner (and nobody could put on a meal like them) teaching Sunday school or just the way they made us feel loved and cared for.

Your mom taught us Sunday school at the “old church” in the little room behind the pleated curtain of the sanctuary. I loved when she would tell us stories. We had to talk softly so they couldn’t hear us in church. It was especially touching when she’d tell about your dad’s accident because she would cry and then recite the 23rd psalm. One thing I’ve noticed over the years, your mom said you boys names with distinction when she talked about you— Andrew, David and Robert! :) That said a lot!

I’ve been out here in IL for a long time but always looked forward to seeing your folks when we would come back to visit. Our family went thru an exceptionally difficult time about 10 years ago. When they found out how much we were struggling, your mom and dad set off to visit us for the weekend. It meant so much!

And then God gave me one last memory with your mom; a very special conversation with her in January. She was hurting terribly but one thing that stood out - she was rooted and grounded in the Lord. He was the rock of her salvation.

Their (both your mom and dad’s) example has touched my life and I praise God for that. May the Lord comfort your hearts like no one else can.

“ Dear Loved ones,
When we think of Paula your dear mom, sister, grandma, and so much more, we think of hospitality. She along side of her dear John, loved making folks happy thru her good food. The obit said it so well. Remembering back to John's days as foreman at the plant, everyone always wanted to be on his shift because he was a great boss but also because of the treats Paula always sent in for meetings, parties etc. Many times she bailed me out at a short notice when I needed one of her famous cookie trays. She came to us as a dear cousin's wife when I was young. As a young girl, I don't think I'd ever seen anyone so beautiful. She was an example to me at an early age, because she shared that she had to learn too cook. Let's just say she mastered that. I also grew very close to her around the time of John's accident. Not sure I've ever seen a closer love for husband than she had for John. I remember her baptism so well. So thankful that she had such a strong faith to carry her through so many troubling times. God be with you all as you lay your dear one to rest. All our love, Bart and Joyce Wiggins

“ So sorry for the loss of your mom, and grandma...affectionately called nanny. I recently was privileged to get to know Paula much better this last couple years and know her as a close friend. She was a good example to me and quickly would share of her trust and faith in Jesus. May you find comfort in Jesus as she did. In Christian love & prayer Mark and Alice
