“ What a wonderful message, and it is always comforting to read a kind message reminding me how special John was. He was the love of my life, and I miss him every day. He lives on in my beautiful daughters and as I see them moving through life, I am empty inside without him. I pray that I will be good enough to join him in heaven some day. Thanks again, and I will let Sarah know of your message.

“ *Dear Mrs Peard and Family, I feel really really sad. I met your husband at PPG in France during a safety training and then we became friends. He was a wonderful person. After I left PPG, he ask me to help one of your daughters in her travelling in Italy, and I was really happy to help her. But then I change my internet provider and lost all my contacts so I didn't had any news, today, 3 years after, I had this awful notice. I don't know if you will be able to read this message but anyway, I just wanted to tell you how sad I am. He often talked to me of his family saying that he was a poor man among women and how it was difficult to be always on travel. John was a splendid person, friendly , always joking but serious in his job. He had a particular way to teach and he was really patient. I thank God for the opportunity He gave me to meet John and all my thoughts are for you, the beloved he left behind. With all my best wishes, and my apologies for this too late mail.
