“ To the Family Of Russ Feist. Sorry I could not be there, I will be out of town. Russ was a hard working man and hard working Christian. Working for Russ meant working hard getting dirty and doing the job right the first time. I learned to respect that. He treated all his workers good. He was a real example how a man should be at work. He carried Christianity with him every where he went. He was very well respected at Kammer Plant. His last job he wanted to do at Kammer was to rebuild the whole coal system. A major undertaking. He was asked one time " Russ, why do you care so much about the coal system if your going to retire?" He said "If we can keep this place running, it might mean a job for your kids or grandchildren". The coal system was rebuilt and lasted for another 26 years. He had this kind of determination in being a Christian also. I learned a lot about how to be a worker for God. I always wanted to imitate the Christian life that Russ lived. I tried, but living to that standard is a lot of work also. I'm going to keep working at it. Just like his last undertaking at work. He would care just as much about his last good work for God as if it were his first work for God. I can always remember the Prayers Russ had. I learned from them. He had a special kind of love for all people. He would Pray for all. Vickie and I pray for your great loss. He will always be remembered by many. In Prayers and Christian Love.
