“ Sue was my second mom- she didn't approve of Tonya spending so much time with me but I was a needy cat that kept hanging around. Sue was good to us even when we wouldn't stop giggling at 2am.

She put up with all of our nonsense throughout the years. I especially love that she was a positive example of an independent woman- she didn't make excuses for her mistakes and was always ready to do whatever she needed to take care of her kids (including her nieces and nephews) she was sometimes grumpy, but Now that

I'm older, I understand why. I'll miss who we were when we were all together

“ Where do I begin, Sue and I go back to right after high school. She's has always been my SuzyQ! I called her mom & dad just that!! I don't think I can pick one special memory, because our friendship has spanned a half century! I do remember when you were born Tonya, we were so happy! I carried you around all the time, pretending you were mine! SuzyQ just laughed & laughed! She said if it was up to me you would never learn to walk! Even when I moved to the other side of the country, we always kept in touch, and hung out whenever I could come home for a visit. We've watched all of you kids grow up, get married & have beautiful children of your own! We shared the happiness and heartaches with each other for over 50 years. SuzyQ, you've been one of my very dearest friends in our lives. I will always cherish our love and friendship forever! I thank God that He brought us together and I'll deeply miss you for the rest of my life!!! Love you always SuzyQ, Char

“ So many memories.....I can remember times that we used to get to laughing about something and would just keep laughing and laughing until we were breathless. That time was wonderful. I was always her co-pilot. Sometimes, literally.....she had a little Le'car and there was a steering wheel taped to the passenger dashboard that we could both drive down the road. And this was some super serious stuff. I remember one time that my cousin wanted to try driving. She sat in the front with my Aunt and was gonna drive. My mom was super funny! She was matching the way she turned the steering wheel and my cousin was freaking out because she didn't know how to drive! OMG!!! I was lucky to be in the trio.....Mom, Mamaw and Aunt Jean.....we used to sit and play cards till the wee hours of the morning, eat graham cracker fudge and Conns chips (in the red bag). All the other grandkids would make fun of us because we would just laugh and carry on. They called the game "tee-hee" because we used to laugh so much. I can remember that being the best thing on my agenda for the week. And how Mamaw would say over and over that she was going to quit playing because she didn't know how to play and then she would end up winning. Kind of like how my Mom played Pokmeon Go. She could never remember how to play but she was a level 40. Even as she aged, I always thought that she was beautiful, even though she didn't think so. I will miss her all of my days.
